Submission B: Planning

A copy of this doc is available in editable Word format on ManageBac. Complete it carefully – it will be read by your supervisor and used to see whether you are addressing this criterion. The questions are related directly to criterion B (Planning) and will need to be answered in your written report later so keep a copy in your process journal.

Name	Samuel Engel
Project title	To raise awareness about one of the UN goals for sustainable development by building a website.

The plan

My plan covers all aspects of my goal including how I will progress with meeting my goal step by step. The plan also aims to have a well-structured and specific scheme to assist me with focusing on the important part of my personal project at the right time. Furthermore my plan tries to make the whole process as organized as possible by setting clear and achievable dates.

I have recorded/will record how the plan has been met and/or changes that have been made by checking off each part of the plan on the last column. In case there are any changes necessary they will be clearly recorded in my process journal along with the reason to make such changes.

The product/outcome criteria

The criteria I have developed are rigorous because they aim to be very specific and evaluable, which makes it harder to accomplish as they are set out. The criteria are also rigorous because they force me to pay attention to more detail and stick with the specifications I created for myself in the future development of my personal project.

The criteria I have developed addresses the global context because the scientific and technical innovation global context is mentioned and build upon in several parts of the criteria as it forms the basic foundation of my personal project.

The criteria I have developed covers all aspects of reaching my goal such as creating the website with technologies that utilized to make it visible. It also covers all aspects of creating an informative content of said website following up on my research.

Self-management skills (see appendix 3)

Before I started the project I think I was good at the following self-management skills:
Information literacy, affective and transfer skills.

I have already demonstrated the following new self-management skills during my project and I will show evidence of this in my process journal when I meet with my supervisor:
Organizational skills, Media literacy

I will need to work on strategies to develop the following self-management skills:
Critical and creative thinking skills

Some initial ideas about what strategies I can use to improve my self-management skills:
Focusing more of my attention to the self-management skills that I am not so good at and finding out the key problems I struggle with in relation to each skill.

Evidence attached

I have included below (either copy/pasted or photographed/scanned) the following:
